People may be divided into two types: winners and losers. Winners are able to become responsible for their own lives. They don't blame others for their mistakes. They do their own thinking, they listen to others, evaluate what they say, and then they make up their minds. They may fail at times, yet they keep self-confidence.

Winners overcome their bad experiences. They freely enjoy themselves but they can postpone it if duty calls.

Losers, on the other hand never learn to take responsibility for their own lives. There are many causes why people can become losers: disease, poor nutrition, cruelty, unhappy relationships and bad experiences. These can interfere with the normal progress toward becoming a winner. The other man was wearing a suit and holding a plastic petrol can. He told people his car had run out of petrol and he had forgotten his wallet. He asked them to lend him some money for petrol. Most people happily gave him money. He collected a lot of money. He put it in his pocket, but he did not got to the petrol station. It became clear to me that both men were beggars. If some people attacked the first room and it was in danger of being taken, Detchard should go into the other room and kill the King. The body would then be put down the pipe and the weight of his chains would keep the body under water. Calling out to the other men, Detchard would then escape down the same pipe and swim across the moat. The other two men would then follow him and the Duke's horses would take them to safety. So anyone searching the castle would find nothing: just an empty room.

8) Write a paragraph of about 100 words about:

The importance of reading

Reading has at all times and in all ages been a source of knowledge, of happiness, of pleasure and even moral courage. It is noted in our society, that even educated people do not like reading books. They try to spend their leisure time with their friends or hanging around without any reason, thus wasting it in unhealthy and frivolous activities.. However, spending time with books is much better than all these activities. A book never speaks without one's permission; it does not bother and is always at one's disposal. A person who intends to read should try to pick good books because life is busy and time is scarce. We cannot afford to spend time in reading all sorts of books. A thinker says. "Life is short...too short to everything. Choose, you must. Choose only the best friends and in books!" . Reading books is a source to beat boredom and defeat loneliness. It is also a source to resume day with new vigour and enthusiasm. For the sound body, a nourished mind is important and for a nourished mind, book reading it important. People from all walks of life should read because it has great importance, especially for the people like politicians, instructors and teachers. If they develop the habit of reading, they can prove themselves as the master of their fields and secure the best place in practical life!
