C) Reading

5-Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

The human body is mainly suited for life on Earth. The issue of gravity is a good example of this. Gravity is the force that pulls everything towards the Earth.

(1) Since humans spend a lot of time standing and sitting, blood collects in the lower body. Human body has developed ways of making sure enough blood gets to the rest of the body to control the brain in particular.

In space there is almost no gravity so the blood and other fluids aren't controlled by gravity in the same way. That's why astronauts often experience headaches, blocked noses and puffy منتفخ faces. (2) In space, they float round instead of walking. They are weightless. The lack of gravity makes their muscles do very little work and become weak. Their bones do not do their usual job so they start to deteriorate and break more easily.

6-Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

(1) Diamonds are a symbol of elegance أنيقة and wealth all over the world. They are the most highly-valued gemstones. أحجار كريمه

People pay so much for diamond jewellery. However, it is surprising to know that those crystals of carbon aren't especially rare. Their high value is mainly due to successful marketing by the multinational group of diamond companies which controlled the world diamond trade for years. Although the international trade in diamond makes huge amounts of money, the people who work in diamond mines don't always share in that wealth. (2) Groups in African countries have controlled the mines and used the profits to buy weapons.

People have been obliged to work in unsafe conditions. Child labour has been used for low pay. That's why the United Nations introduced a system to keep these diamonds made by child labour out of the international diamond market.

(A). answer the following questions:

1-What do diamonds refer to?

2-For what have groups in African countries used diamond profits?

3-Find out words that mean:

C. Reading

5. Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

I was looking forward to meeting my friend John again. When he had written to me to say that (1) he was coming to Egypt on business, I had promised to meet him at the airport. It never entered my head that I might not recognize him after twenty years. (2) I still kept a clear picture in my mind of a tall fellow, with clear, blue eyes and fair, curly hair. The arrival of John flight was announced. I waited outside the customs hall as the passengers went by – businessmen in smart suits, a man with a wooden leg, leaning on a stick, young people with long hair, dressed in jeans and shirts. There was no sign of (3) John. I went to the entrance of the customs hall and looked inside. The only person there, apart from the customs officers, was a big man of about fifty wearing dark glasses, with a bald head and a moustache. He came towards me and stopped in front of me.
